

MARTIN MURPHY

Eco-Coach, Facilitator, Catalyst, Author

In collaboration with trusted partners, I provide tailored coaching and indoor and outdoor training solutions which help business owners, leaders, managers and teams crack the code of optimum performance in life and work. Often helping clients to solve complex challenges in their growing teams.

Core themes

- Designing and delivering programmes for performance development and leadership competency.
- Performing training needs analysis across business units
- Working with stakeholders to develop training plans and budgets.
- Developing training schedules & materials for classroom training
- Designing & organising off-site & Outdoor training solutions
- Reviewing & recommending improvements to existing training programmes
- Leadership development coaching
- Entrepreneur Coaching
- Team development coaching

Currently Working on:

These days Martin focuses on developing entrepreneurs, executives and managers into effective leaders and work groups into agile, confident and enterprising teams. He designs, facilitates and leads retreats in the countryside, coaches internationally and designs bespoke in-house and outdoor learning experiences for clients. Martin is a qualified Mountain Leader and is qualified in mental health approaches utilising the outdoors. When he's not working, he can usually be found in the hills and countryside often surrounded by horses, his family and Labrador Mac.

Biography

Martin, has a rich reservoir of experiences to draw upon and is skilled in training design, facilitation and coaching across diverse sectors including digital, healthcare, educational, financial, security, military intelligence and public sector.

Contact

Phone: +44(0) 7733121967

Web: www.martinmurphy.coach

Email: ask@martinmurphy.coach

The Association of Executive Coaches reviewed Martin's book thus:

“From Mercenaries to Missionaries is bursting with digestible content, boasts a wealth of top tips and is packed with wise observations and guidance for ways of improving an individual's leadership style and people management prowess. If you are interested in leadership, looking to grow your business or want to develop the team around you, this should be top of your reading list.”

